very important.

About Indian festivals

We celebrate our festivals together and without any difference. In our country we celebrate all festivals and we go to our relatives house . In India the important festivals are - Sankranthi is our very happiest festival. They decorate their houses like this:

This festival is celebrated for three days. In these three days the main important day is the second day that is pongal. On this festival the small children play with kites along with their families. During this festival everyone forgets their problems and enjoys spending time with their relatives.

This festival is celebrated because at that time wheat crops are completed. Sankranthi is a harvest festival. The main important festivals are Dashura, Diwali , Rashka band ,Ganesh Chaturthi festival.

Dashura is celebrated because the god Durga killed bad people long ago. This festival is celebrated for 10 days. All the people go to temple and pray to gods and ask to solve their problems and give them what they want. On those days the temples are full of people. This is also a harvest festival.

Diwali is a beautiful festival and the homes are full of lights and all the family members wear new clothes. All of them enjoy lighting crackers they burst up into the night sky and everyone has fun.

The rashka band is an important festival for brothers and sisters. On that day sisters prepare a good rakies for their brothers and they will give gifts to their lovely sisters. This festival is a symbol of the relation between brother and sister.

Ganesh festival is celebrated by praying on that day to Ganesh that we will be good in our studies.
